

TOFT AUDIO AND STEPHEN STILLS MAKING BEAUTIFUL MUSIC TOGETHER CSNY Founder Stephen Stills takes delivery of a Toft ATB32a for His Personal Use Studio

Los Angeles, California
21 June, 2010

A founding member of both Buffalo Springfield and Crosby, Stills, Nash & Young, Stephen Stills' career spans nearly 50 years. Some of his best known works like Suite: Judy Blue Eyes and Carry On are deeply woven into the tapestry of popular music.

When it's time to record with his famous band-mates, things generally start at Stephen's place in the beautiful hills above Hollywood where he's hung his hat since the 1970's. "Actually, I usually do the engineering when the guys are working up here", admits longtime CSNY drummer Joe Vitale (CSNY, Joe Walsh, Eagles).

"We're here before touring begins and as the precursor to recording," Vitale went on, "we do preproduction and the guys work-out song ideas, harmonies, band arrangements, all pretty much here at Stephen's place."

When Stills was considering a new console, Joe recommended the Toft ATB-32a Recording Console since they all loved the sound of the Trident Audio consoles they worked on in the past. "The classic sound, the Series 80B eq's, and the simple and intuitive layout made it the obvious choice", Joe told us, "Stephen is used to working in a very analog way, the way we've worked for years, and the ease of this familiar kind of layout is a bonus!".

And Stephen's response? "I love Toft in my studio!"
